Mrs. Roosevelt's 20 Minutes

She's a Better Man Than Most

My old friend Edgar G. Harris, who runs the West Point (Miss.) Daily Times Leader, is writing nowadays with a barbed pen. "It is said," says he, "that Mrs. Roosevelt dictates her daily newspaper column in about 20 minutes. We had guessed as much by a casual reading of the stuff." Now Edgar, you shouldn't be giving away our trade secrets — for if Voltaire could write a whole book, "Candide," in one night, why allow more than 20 minutes for a newspaper column?

Smart guys who know more than they ever read, but nevertheless fail to get around to writing anything, might enjoy this business of dictating the average newspaper column. Editor Harris, however, would agree with me that if Mrs. Roosevelt produces what she does in 20 minutes it would not help matters if she took a whole hour—but that's just a couple of men talking.

Mrs. Roosevelt's 20 minutes fascinates Editor Harris, but what fascinates me is that she dictates it.

I've heard about the business of dictating newspaper columns, but never have seen it. The late Arthur Brisbane was famous for "speaking his piece" into a dictaphone, and, being suspicious of the grammar of his secretaries, he dictated all the punctuation marks, too. The result was that, being called upon to make a speech in Chicago, his habit got the better of him—and a reporter coming away from the meeting said he never before in his life heard so many quotation marks, commas, periods and paragraphs spoken out loud!

Writing a "column" in 20 minutes is nothing extraordinary. If the trade wind is blowing your way, but dictating it is something else.

Once upon a time I let an office supply salesman leave with me on approval an electric typewriter. In theory an electric typewriter should speed up the "column". What happened was something else: The first time I got stuck between paragraphs I heard the low whine of the electric motor—and the same guy who could write in a boiler-factory blew higher than a kite.

If you don't believe me, just try it some time. Poise yourself over a desk, search for a thought—and then find yourself looking at a whirling motor or a rolling dictaphone.

You recall the story about the preacher: He didn't mind the man in the congregation taking out his watch and looking at it—but he had a justifiable kick when the man shook it to see if it was running. We don't mind racing against time—but we can't stand looking down the barrel of the gun that is going to dispatch us.

Secretary Hull Flays Willkie Monday

WASHINGTON —(P)— Secretary Hull accused Wendell Willkie Monday of being "grossly ignorant of the history of the last few years" in placing upon President Roosevelt the responsibility for the fate of Czechoslovakia at Munich.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

They Made Headlines
How well do you keep abreast of the news? Here are the reasons why five persons were in the headlines recently; can you identify each?

1. Who was hanged in effigy in Washington, D. C., because he supported the conscription bill?
2. What U. S. ambassador warned the country it was in a spot as perilous as that which France occupied a year ago?
3. The mayor of a large U. S. city was named civilian representative by President Roosevelt on the joint board to plan U. S.-Canadian defense. Who is he?
4. A prominent jurist, vacationing, watched flames damage barn on his farm. Who is he?
5. Who was named to succeed Henry A. Wallace as secretary of agriculture?

B. F. Goodlett Dies Saturday

Aged Hempstead Farmer Succumbs at His Home

Ben F. Goodlett, 81, prominent Ozark farmer, died at his home about 1 o'clock Saturday after an extended illness.

Mr. Goodlett was born in Ouchita county near Camden and had lived in St. Paul community for 57 years. He was a steward in the Methodist church and an ex-member of the county Democratic Central Committee.

He is survived by his wife, a brother, Ed Goodlett of Ozark and a sister, Mrs. Mary Fox of San Antonio, Tex. Funeral services were held at the Old cameras still make good pictures: L. Carter Johnson, Hope traffic manager, shot this photo on East Second street about 10 days ago as School Days became a grim cloud on the horizon of these happy youngsters and their soap-box automobile. But they were having fun the day Mr. Johnson made his picture. He used a postcard-sized Kodak, bought 20 years ago. The Star enlarged the negative.

Glenn Frank Is Wreck Victim

Ex-President Wisconsin U. and Son Are Killed

GREENLEAF, Wis. —(P)— Dr. Glen Frank, 53, chairman of the Republican party's Program Committee, and his son, Glenn Frank, Jr., 21, were killed in an automobile accident Sunday night.

Sheriff Clifford Kellner said the automobile, equipped with loud-speakers and signs, ran into a sand pile and overturned at an intersection.

Frank was evangelist, chautauqua lecturer, writer, editor, and "boy president" of the University of Wisconsin before he became active in politics.

Historic Bill Is Made a Law at 2 Monday

Roosevelt Signs Nation's First Peacetime Draft Bill Into Law

WASHINGTON —(P)— President Roosevelt signed into a law the nation's first peacetime draft bill and immediately issued a proclamation requiring the registration by October 16 of 16,500,000 men.

First Peacetime Draft
WASHINGTON —(P)— President Roosevelt was to sign into a law the nation's first peacetime conscription bill.

Stephen Early, the White House Secretary, said the chief executive would probably issue at the same time a proclamation and an executive order putting the draft into effect, and "give out an ABC explanation of the statement."

It was indicated that the proclamation would fix the date when 16,500,000 men, aged 21 through 35, would be required to register for military service.

Early said the signing of the historic legislation would take place in the White House cabinet room in the presence of Chairman Sheppard (D. Tex.), May (D-Ky.) of the senate, the house military committee, Secretary of War Stimson, and General Marshall, army chief of staff.

While Stalin Smiles

Europe at death grips now whirls dizzily down to the very edge of the vortex of destruction. Can anybody win a war of the kind that is now convulsing Britain and Germany? What sort of prize awaits the victor?

The prize will be a Europe robbed of its best youth in France, Poland, Italy, Germany, and Britain. It will be a starving continent whose crops have been destroyed or fed into the maw of the insatiable military machine. It will be a continent whose best productive facilities have been bombed out of existence, a continent condemned to lower standards of living from which it must again crawl painfully upward. It will be a continent filled with raw wounds and hatreds fanned and made eternally bitter by memories which will not vanish. It will be a continent in which revolution has been made inevitable.

Questions on Page One

1. Senator Claude Pepper of Florida was hanged in effigy.
2. William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France, warned the U. S. it was in danger.
3. Mayor F. H. La Guardia of New York City was named civilian representative on U. S. half of joint defense board.
4. Justice Owen J. Robert of the Supreme Court, vacationing at his farm in Pennsylvania, watched fire damage his barn.
5. Claude R. Wickard of Indiana was named secretary of agriculture.

Paris is concerned by its 300,000 unemployed—more than all France had in pre-war times. They are restless, they are hopeless, they are meat for the Communist agitators who industriously work among them to cash in on defeat, frustration, despair. To release the French war prisoners held in Germany, to demobilize the remaining French army, can only add to this mass misery. France, once freed of German armies of occupation, might easily fall into hideous internal strife.

Danish agriculture is ruined, Norway broods sullenly, Poland groans under oppression, Italy, even as victor, may well be ruining itself.

Decision Near on New Deal's Real Feeling

WASHINGTON — If you want to know whether the New Deal really wants to fight for low prices in the rearmament drive, watch the fate of a little resolution just introduced by Senator Burton K. Wheeler.

Wheeler has moved for a senate investigation of patent or price-fixing agreements between U. S. and German industrialists which might hamper defense production.

Whether he gets the investigation is strictly up to the administration. His resolution's fate depends on the Senate Audit and Control Committee, which is headed by one of the chief administration strategists, Senator James Byrnes of South Carolina. Obviously, if New Deal thumbs are turned down the resolution will be smothered in committee.

Anti-Trust Division Acted Alone

The situation which Wheeler wanted looked into is one which the administration has never been willing to look at with more than half an eye.

Away last winter the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice notified the administration that various price and production controls had been set up in certain vital defense industries by agreements between certain German and American producers.

Plain warning was served then that at least some of these agreements would have the effect of putting both government and private citizen at the mercy of sundry big business interests in connection with defense buying.

No one outside of the anti-trust division took any action on this warning or betrayed any special interest in it. The anti-trust people have gone ahead and have taken some of these cases into court, where a number of actions are now pending.

A great deal more investigating remains to be done, however, than the anti-trust division with its present staff and funds can possibly handle. There is no chance that the division's staff will be enlarged in the near future; on the contrary, growing opposition within the defense commission to Miss Mary Bruner at the Barlow for Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Watson, Jr., whose marriage in Fort Worth, Texas was an event of this month.

Centering the circular table was a handsome silver bowl containing pink and orchid dahlias. The arrangement was placed on a reflector.
A corsage of red roses marked the cover of Mrs. Watson. She was presented with a beautiful gift of linen.
Miss Bruner selected the following as guests for the occasion: Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Watson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Hendrix Spraggins, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robinson, Miss Patricia Duffie, Miss Heatha Basby, and Miss Carlene Bruner.

Miss Lorraine Dunn of Texarkana Entertains at the Barlow
Miss Lorraine Dunn of Texarkana entertained Saturday evening with a dinner at the Barlow honoring Miss Thelma Henderson, who is leaving soon for George Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee. Among those present were, Miss Henderson, Miss Ann Kirkley of Texarkana, Mr. and Mrs. Marsdell Bailey, and Miss Dunn.

Former Hope Girl Is Wed in Stamps
Quantities of summer flowers and numerous white tapers burning in silver candelabra were used in decorating the First Baptist church in Stamps, Arkansas for the wedding of Miss Dorothy Bundy and Frank Pitts, which was solemnized on Monday evening, September 9th. The impressive single ring ceremony was read by the Rev. James Fitzgerald pastor of the church, amid a large gathering of friends and relatives.
Preceding the ceremony, Miss Dorothy May Blakey, pianist, played "Lelbestum" (Liszt) and accompanied Mrs. Faye Parker, who sang "I Love You Truly" (Benedict) and "At Dawning" (Caldwell). During the ceremony she played "Trauerzeit" (Strauss).
The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an attractive white tailored dress with matching accessories. Her flowers were white gladioli and tuberoses.
The maid of honor and only attendant was Miss Margaret Bowman of Foreman. She was attired in a light blue sheer and wore a shoulder corsage of tuberoses. Dale McCoy of Fort Worth was best man and the ushers were Nick Williams and Glen McMurrough of Stamps.
The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bundy of Stamps, is a graduate of Stamps high school and attended Henderson State Teachers' College at Arkadelphia. Mr. Pitts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Pitts of Harrisburg, Arkansas. He will be a senior at Ouachita college, Arkadelphia, this year, where both he and Mrs. Pitts will continue to study.

Personal Mention
Miss Sara Ann Holland, who went to the University of Arkansas last week for the rushing activities has pledged Chi Omega sorority. A university news release states that Miss Mary Frances Hammons has pledged Delta Gamma.
Friends of S. G. Norton will be glad to hear that he is improving at North Louisiana Sanatorium in Shreveport after undergoing a serious eye operation. Mrs. Norton is in Shreveport with Mr. Norton.
Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Watson Jr., left Sunday morning for Fort Worth to make their new home.

"Portrait of a Young Man Bent on Destruction"

"Portrait of a Young Man Bent on Destruction" might title this official Nazi photo of a German war pilot, his face set, his eyes lining up death through the gun sight which synchronizes his machine guns and "light cannon". Hitler has multiplied this picture by ten and then by ten and then by ten again in hurling his winged, steel gauntlet at Britain.

Not Anti-aircraft—Just "Sun-gun"

This looks like a super-colossal anti-aircraft cannon, but the device—a special lensless camera—"shoots" the sun, instead of planes. With it, a group of nine U. S. scientists, now en route to Brazil, will snap the October 1 eclipse of the sun. Shown operating the "sun-gun" are expedition members Arthur Hoag, Brown University astronomy student, left, and Dr. Charles Smiley, foreground, Brown astronomy expert. At rear are W. OUR COUNTRY

Human Reason Has Not Yet Prevailed... Therefore Our Arms Must — Philip Wylie
Seventh of 24 articles on "Our Country," written exclusively for NEA Service by the nation's most famous authors.
By PHILIP WYLIE
Author of "The Muralist Invisible," "The Big Ones Get Away," etc.
A nation is no different from an individual. Its nature is a composite of human nature, whether its policies are expressed by one man or by all. People associated in states cannot long maintain either subhuman or superhuman appearances. In a restless effort to make a better world, mankind has often tried to invent and impose upon himself a "government" superior to himself. Such boot-strap lifting has ended inevitably in failure because of the nature of us all.
We have hitherto guessed instinctively, and now we can show scientifically, that to be in harmony with an environment, each individual must be able to exercise certain biological functions. He must have a purpose that is not out of reach of his particular capacities. He must constantly struggle toward that purpose. He must be free to make his own choices. Such freedom can come only from an intrepid inspection of all motives, lofty and base, cerebral and animal. Those are the elemental conditions for one man and thus for many. They form the basis of our Constitution.
Many nations have now gone mad for the same reasons that drive individuals crazy: frustration, defeat, avarice, vengeance, delusions of grandeur, and so on.
Fascism and Communism are not "revolutions." They are escapes—the same "escapes" which rob individuals of their reason by not taking into consideration all the actualities of human living. Fascism is an attempt to compel economic order from a minority down. Communism, to compel it from the masses up. But man does not live by economics alone.
The duped radicals among our youths and the pension-salivating morose among our old people naively imagine that man can be legislated into being someone else. So do many other reckless nitwits. But every attempt to outlaw a frailty of the human species, or to administer a synthetic virtue into it has run through immemorial phases of enthusiasm, dictatorial "enforcement," and debacle. We remain neither black nor white, left nor right, but an evolving breed that is at once both altruistic and competitive.
In these terrible weeks we dimly see why most of mankind is so dissatisfied. His new forward step—the machine—has given him so much so quickly and with such a tangle of illogical distribution that it has made him variously snug, spellbound, submerged, and desperate. Some men have decided machinery is a god and invented Communism for its universal worship. The Nazis have iconized science into devil-worship and set out to destroy with it. They have no better plan for individuals than total subjugation for their tools. In America people have continued to keep man's character in command of his material. The most ineffectual experiment of the New Deal, the most passionate protest of the reactionary, are both, in essence, expressions of that one, single human way of life. To ask ourselves now for a statement of "the American case" is to show some absorption of the poisons being force-fed to us. There has never been any other case for man than democracy.

In that clear certainty we will maintain ourselves. Since it is wiser to seize lunatics than to build barricades against them, we will establish upon the land that is ours, not merely a fortress, but a great base from which to strike every mania at its source. Human reason has not yet prevailed, therefore our arms must. We will give to this effort our brains, our blood, our treasure, because to do so is to conduct with dignity the painful process of our evolution and to achieve one further step in realizing man's unshakable self-confidence.
Jonathan Daniels sounds a warning to those who hear only confusion in America, in the next article of this series on "Our Country."

Star Group For Chesterfield

Fall Campaign Includes Screen, Sport Leaders

Many famous personalities appear in the Chesterfield Cigarettes campaign for early fall, released this week by Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company.

This campaign will tell America that Chesterfield is "the smoker's cigarette," because it combines milder, cooler, better taste in one satisfying smoke.

From the screen world, Fred MacMurray, Robert Ray, and George Raft to Mollie "star" for Chesterfield. Heading the list of sports celebrities are Gene Sarzan, great golf champion and Sid Luckman, All-America football hero.

Three pretty aviatrixes from the newly organized Women Flyers of America and a cheerful World's Series baseball advertisement complete the schedule.

National magazines, billboards, cut-outs and the famous Chesterfield radio network programs, featuring Glen Miller's Moonlight Serenade on CBS and Fred Waring's Pleasure Time on NBC, support the newspaper advertising.

Buick Sales Show Increase

Large Increase of 55.7% Over August 1939

FLINT, Mich. — New car sales by the Buick division of General Motors Sales Corporation during the last 10 days of August showed an increase of 107.5 per cent over the same period in 1939, according to W. F. Hufstader, vice president and general sales manager. Sales for the period were 4,994, bringing the total for the month to 14,776. This represents an increase of 55.7 per cent over August 1939.

Used car stocks were decreased when Buick dealers processed 16,172 units during the last 10 days of August, an increase of 6,359 units or 49.6 per cent. Used car sales for the month showed an increase of 44.6 per cent. Used car sales for the month cent with 43,295 units sold in August 1940, compared with 29,943 in the same month last year.

Used car stocks on hand at the end of August were equal to only 25.2 days turnover, with a total of 35,153 units in the field.
Unfilled new car orders already total more than 8,000 despite the fact announcement of the 1941 products will not be made to the public until September 7th, the executive said.

Church Revival in Third Week

Gospel Tabernacle Meet to Close This Week

With a packed house on Sunday night, the revival at the Hope Gospel Tabernacle swung into the third and final week. The meetings will be held every night this week closing on Sunday night.

In the Monday night service the Tabernacle congregation will have as special guests the Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Jones, El Dorado; Rev. and Mrs. Robert Sellers, Hot Springs; and Rev. and Mrs. Claude H. Asher, Malvern. Rev. Carl W. Barnes, evangelist for the series of services now in progress at the Tabernacle will speak Monday night on "The Church Behind Closed Doors." Tuesday night has been set aside as musical night, when a large staff of singers and workers will participate in a great service of special music and singing.

The Rev. Mr. Barnes declared to an overflow crowd at the meeting Sunday night, "I believe there is a hell as described in the Bible. If there is no hell, there is no heaven, and if there is no heaven there is no truth in the Bible, and if there is no truth in the Bible, then we are lost in a dark world without a ray of light."

The services are conducted nightly, except Saturday, at 7:45. Rev. J. E. Hamill, pastor, urges all the people of Hope to avail themselves of this opportunity of hearing Evangelist Barnes in this last week.

Cargile Looms as Tulsa Star

Hope Halfback Begins Second Year on Varsity

TULSA — Nolan Cargile, halfback from Hope, was again to go after that "toughest of tough" ten-game schedule that loomed up ahead of the University of Tulsa Golden Hurricane squad when he reported to Head Coach Chet Benefield Monday for early fall training.

It will be Cargile's second year on the varsity. As a strong runner, an excellent pass receiver, a good ball carrier and a dependable blocker, he may be expected to shine in a number of places.

Benefield and his three assistants, who brooded that the 1940 Hurricane eleven will be the greatest one in the history of the school, will have to prepare their boys to battle a list of opponents that would puzzle any coaching staff. A home game with Washburn will be the first thing to worry about.

Five more home games include Creighton October 12, Texas Christian October 26, Catholic November 8, Oklahoma A. and M. November 23, and the University of Arkansas November 28.

Games away will be played with Texas A. & M., St. Louis university, University of Detroit and Baylor university.

Jim Wilson Is High, Texarkana

Ray McDowell and George Wiley in First Ten

Jim Wilson of Columbus, heading a delegation of 12 Hempstead county shooters, invaded Texarkana Friday and carried off high honors at that city's skeet shoot by breaking 49 out of 50 targets.

Two other Hempstead men finished in the first 10, out of a total of 45 shooters. Ray McDowell of Hope placed seventh with 46 hits; and George Wiley of Guernsey shot 45 to tie for eighth place with Stuart Wilson of Texarkana.

The sportsmen were entertained with a barbecued steak supper after the shoot.

Judge Ragon

Circuit Court of Appeals.

A member of the House of Representatives from 1923 to 1933 from the Fifth Arkansas district, he had held the district judgeship for seven years.

Until Saturday night, Judge Ragon apparently had been in excellent health, visiting his office as usual Saturday although no court was held. In the afternoon he drove to Fayetteville to watch the University of Arkansas football team at practice, in company with United States Marshal Henry Armstrong. His family disclosed Sunday that on his return he complained of feeling slightly ill.

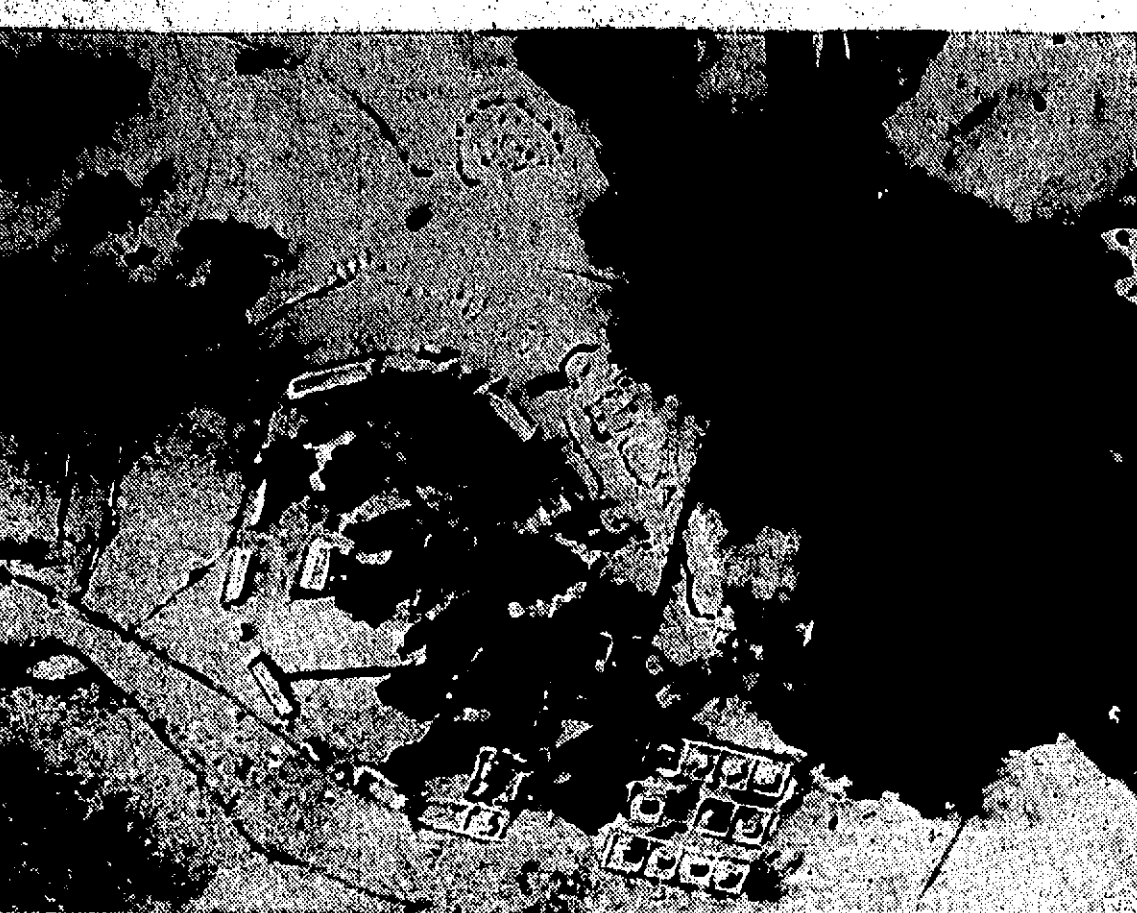

The last big case over which he presided was in late July and August when two officials of the state Revenue Department and two others were tried on charges of conspiring to transport liquor into dry states. The two officials were acquitted, one of the other defendants was declared, in the case of the fourth.

Federal Judge Trimble of the Eastern District of Arkansas said at his home in Lonoke he was greatly shocked "upon learning of Judge Ragon's death."

"There is no question but that he would have been elevated to the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Eighth District," Judge Trimble said. "It was a position he had earned through sheer ability. He will be missed greatly in the state. Every attorney who came in contact with him had the highest regard for his integrity and his legal background."

Federal Judge Lemley, roving judge, who presides in both the Western and Eastern Districts, said Judge Ra-

Democrats of State to Meet

Action as to Prospective Bolters Discussed

LITTLE ROCK — Homer M. Adkins, Democratic nominee for governor, returned from his vacation in Texas Sunday to confer with advisors prior to the Democratic state convention which will be held at the Auditorium here Tuesday.

The nominee's statement of policies will be delivered Wednesday afternoon.

Possible results of the convention will be:

1. Adoption of a resolution or regulation drawn to discourage Democrats from voting for Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican presidential candidate, at the November 5 general election.
2. Virtual election of Representative Means Wilkinson of Greenwood, Sebastian county, to the House speakership. Mr. Adkins indicated three weeks ago he would prefer that house members choose their own speaker although incoming governors usually make known their preference at the state convention. Mr. Wilkinson has obtained signatures of nearly 50 of the 100 members of the house to a petition pledging support.

A proposal from Wallas county may become the basis of a spirited fight to keep Democrats in line to support President Roosevelt at the general election and to discourage membership in the Arkansas Willkie Clubs.

As a requisite to vote in the 1942 Democratic primaries, the Dallas county suggestion would interpret the word "nominee" in the party rules as "a person whose candidacy has been subject to a Democratic primary in Arkansas." Electors who do not vote the Democratic ticket at a general election are barred from participation in the next party primary.

If such an interpretation is placed on the meaning of a "nominee," Democrats could vote for Willkie without endangering their party status, because President Roosevelt's name did not appear on the 1940 Arkansas primary election ballot.

"Please Don't Hurt My Little Girl"

DEAR DRIVER—

Today my daughter who is seven years old, started to school as usual. She wore a dark blue dress with a white collar. She had on black shoes and wore blue gloves. Her cocker-spaniel, whose name is "Scout," sat on the front porch and whined his canine belief in the folly of education as she waved "goodbye" and started off to the halls of learning.

Tonight we talked about school. She told me about the girl who sits in front of her—the girl with yellow curls—and the boy across the aisle who makes funny faces. She told me about her teacher, who has eyes in the back of her head—and about the trees in the school yard—and about the big girl who doesn't believe in Santa Claus. We talked about a lot of things—tremendously vital, unimportant things; then we studied spelling, reading and arithmetic—and then to bed.

She's back here now—back in the nursery—sound asleep, with "Princess Elizabeth" (that's a doll) cuddled in her right arm. You guys wouldn't hurt her, would you? You see, I'm her daddy. When her collar is broken or her finger is cut, or her head gets bumped, I can fix it—but when she starts to school, when she walks across the street, then she's in your hands.

She's a nice kid. She can run like a deer and clarts about like a chip munk. She likes to ride horses and swim and hike with me on Sunday afternoons. But I can't be with her all the time—I have to work to pay for her clothes and her education. So please help me look for her. Please drive carefully, please drive slowly past the schools and intersections—and please remember, that children run from behind parked cars.

Please, don't hurt my little girl.
